Spitfire fly past thanks to Craven Disco

With street parties up and down the country Craven Disco did not have to travel far for one party on Friday 29th April.

Kitted out in a very patriotic and fancy waist coat DJ Stephen hosted a street party on his own street to celebrate the Royal Wedding of the year!

Neighbours and family all rallied round to decorate the cul-de-sac as well as putting their culinary skills to the test.

One local resident Mr Hart said " It was a fantastic day especially with Stephen providing the entertainment – we were literally dancing in the street"

To mark the start of the event Stephen also provided a fly past by a Spitfire squadron – albeit a sound effect!

"It was a great afternoon and I enjoyed doing it" said Stephen.

"The whole event went really well, young and old alike wanted to celebrate the marriage of Wills and Kate and what a way to do it, with a good old knees up!"

With the Diamond Jubilee looming for 2012 if you want Craven Disco on your street you need to book soon!

"...with the current credit crunch. Craven Disco guarantees that we will hold your booked price from the time of booking..."

Back to the Future! A busy 2012!

Like Doc Brown from the Back to the Future films we see the future! Craven Disco is already busy for 2012. With wedding bookings and enquiries for 2012 on a sharp increase, now would be good time to start planning your event as soon as possible. Stephen, Craven Disco's very own MC commented, "Book now to avoid disappointment, we are staggered at the number of brides booking their weddings early. This could be a shrewd move with regard to the current credit crunch. Craven Disco guarantees that we will hold your booked price from the time of booking to your wedding date; be that two or three years in the future. We discovered that a lot of venues lead the brides and groom into believing they have to accept a house disco as part of their wedding packages. Please bear in mind you DO NOT always have to do this – the main concern for venues is insurance and in most cases they are worried that you will hire a DJ who is not covered by any insurance at all. Craven Disco is fully insured and PAT tested – this forms a requirement of us being members of the National Association of Disc Jockeys.

It's all about careful planning! Craven Disco can help.

Craven Disco can't remove all the stress of your event but we can help a little. Every wedding package booked gives you access to your own exclusive planning screens. This allows you to do a host of things with regard to your event. You can plan timings associated with your reception, make special song requests, you can even stagger your payments and pay online via PayPal to help you spread the cost of your big day. Relatives abroad? Guests who can't make your big day? They can log in too with their own password to make special requests and send messages. Please ask us for more details.
